General Information:

Recochem is a Global Coolant Expert that specializes in producing proprietary cooling solutions for evolving engine needs of automotive and heavy duty vehicles. For over sixty-five years we have been known for innovation, agility, growth and socially responsible business practices. Our reputation has earned us vendor appreciation awards and longstanding relationships with our suppliers around the world.

Recochem's Americas Division is a vertically integrated manufacturer (bottle blowing, technology and in-line filling) in six strategically located facilities, allowing us to cost effectively service our customers coast to coast and throughout North and South America.

Every one of our locations is ISO 9001:2008 certified. This assures our customers consistent quality and "on-spec," identical products from every plant, every time. Recochem takes pride in fostering a culture committed to service and quality and outstanding responsiveness to customer needs.

Complete details of the Recochem Inc. Program can be found under "Programs" on www.powerheavyduty.net.
